World Rye Trade Dwindles

World rye trade is expected to fall to a 30-year low this year as a dearth of intervention stocks has restricted EU exports. These intervention stockpiles had swelled to over 5 million tons in recent years as the European Union bought excess rye production at an attractive guaranteed price of 101 euros per ton. However, in 2003/04, the Commission discontinued intervention purchases for rye and became aggressive in trying to liquidate these stocks. One of the major methods to accomplish that goal was to sell for export, often at only half the acquisition cost. Those sales typically accounted for nearly all of EU exports and a large portion of world trade.

Now, with intervention stocks effectively at zero, this source for exports is no longer an option and free-market supplies are unlikely to fill this void because of a number of factors. First, some EU farmers have shifted out of rye production, reducing the surplus available for export. For example, EU production this year was the lowest on record, with area down by half from 10 years ago. Second, the building of ethanol plants that use rye as a feedstock have created an additional market opportunity for producers. And third, without the bargain prices, there is little incentive for foreign markets such as Japan and South Korea to buy rye when other grains offer more feed value. Because of this, EU exports, and thus world rye trade, is likely to continue to remain at low levels.

Circular Modifications:

The Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) will update its production, supply and distribution database for cotton, oilseeds, grains and pulses at 9 a.m. on the day the World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates (WASDE) report is released. It is available on the FAS website (<http://www.fas.usda.gov/psdonline/>). This circular will be released at 9:30 a.m. on the same day, together with its downloadable data set. This is an effort to speed up FAS information dissemination to more closely coincide with the release of the WASDE.

WHEAT: WORLD MARKETS AND TRADE

MONTHLY HIGHLIGHTS:

U.S. Spring Wheat Area Expected to Fall to a 20-Year Low: Total U.S. spring wheat planted area is forecast to continue to shrink in 2007 because wheat area in the Northern Plains is expected to shift into corn as a result of high prices and strong demand for ethanol use. Non-durum spring wheat area is forecast to fall 7 percent, while durum area is expected to rise 6 percent from last year's very low level. Smaller than expected spring wheat area will be more than offset by a boost in winter area as a result of high prices at planting last fall. Consequently, total U.S. production is expected to be larger next year, which could allow for stronger exports.

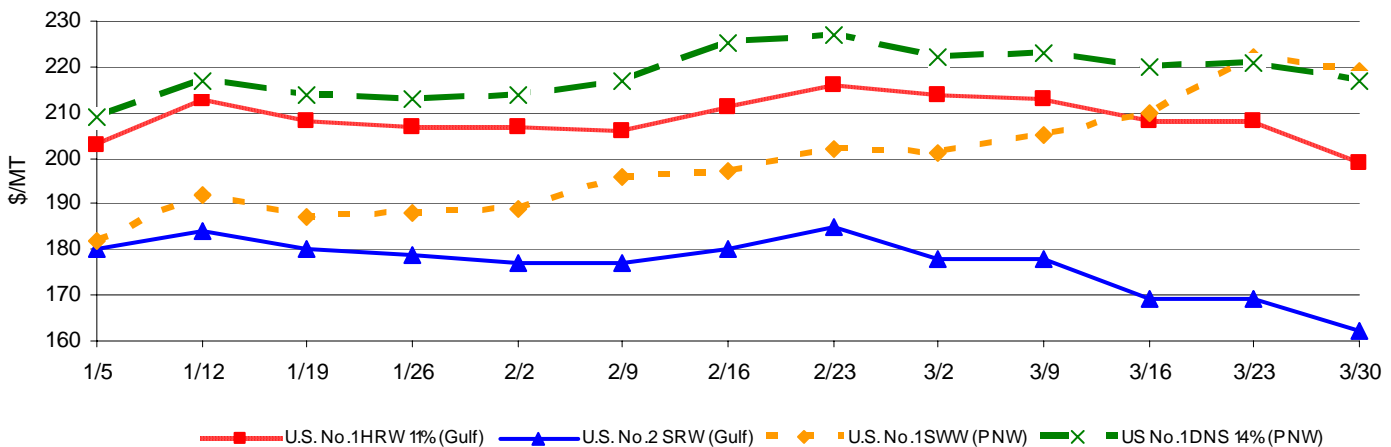

*2007/08 is prospective planted area

PRICES:

Domestic: For March, most class prices fell on lower corn prices as well as expectations of a bigger new crop due to larger planted area and continued favorable growing conditions. White prices have sky-rocketed due to strong demand in Asia, which is the result of slack competition from Australia. For the month, Hard Red Winter (HRW) fell $15 per MT, Hard Red Spring (HRS) fell $5, Soft Red Winter (SRW) fell $16, and Soft White (SWW) climbed $18.

TRADE CHANGES IN 2006/2007

Selected Exporters

- Russia is up 500,000 tons to 10.5 million on continued larger than expected exports to Mediterranean and South Asian markets.
- Syria is up 900,000 tons to 1.5 million on strong exports, reflecting government decisions to sell stocks. Shipments were strong, particularly to Jordan and North African countries such as Algeria, Egypt and Tunisia.
- Kazakhstan is up 500,000 tons to 5.5 million on a very robust export pace.
- Canada is down 1.0 million tons to 19.5 million due to slower export shipments.
- EU-25 is down 1.0 million tons to 13.0 million on reduced export sales and shipments. Licenses (wheat and flour) are 3.1 million tons (26 percent) behind last year's pace to date.

Selected Importers

- India is up 300,000 tons to 6.3 million on 800,000 tons of private imports, which originated mostly from Australia, Ukraine, and Russia. This supplements the 5.5 million tons bought through five public tenders issued by the State Trading Corporation of India.
- Indonesia is up 300,000 tons to 5.1 million on stronger imports.
- Morocco is down 400,000 tons to 1.5 million on a slow import pace in light of a record crop.
- Libya is down 300,000 tons to 1.0 million on decelerated buying patterns of flour from the EU.

COARSE GRAINS: WORLD MARKETS AND TRADE

MONTHLY HIGHLIGHTS:

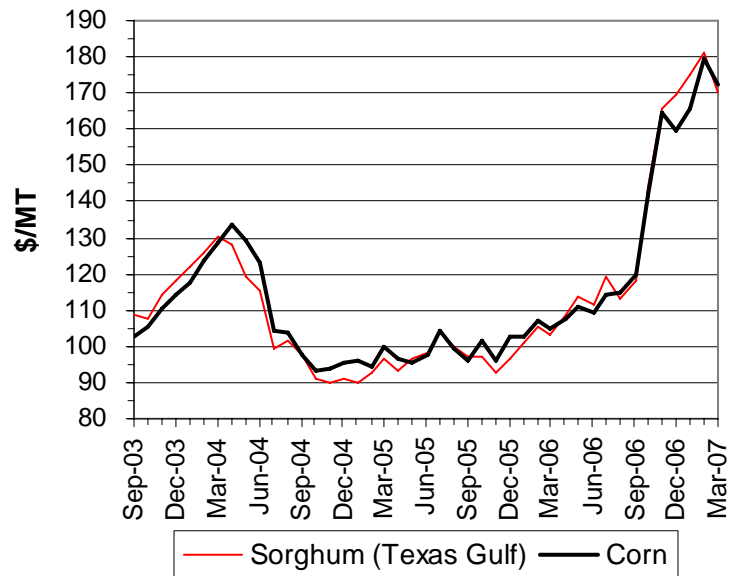

Canadian Barley Farmers Vote to End Canadian Wheat Board's Monopoly On Barley: During the end of March the results of a barley plebiscite were announced indicating that a majority of Canadian farmers want to have greater choice in where to market their barley crop. Results show that 48 percent want the choice to market to the CWB or the open-market, 14 percent were in favor of getting the CWB out of barley marketing completely and only 38 percent voted to retain the CWB.

As a result of this, on April 3, Chuck Strahl, Minister of Agriculture and Agri-Food and Minister for the Canadian Wheat Board, stated, "We now have a mandate from farmers to move to marketing choice, to provide Western Canadian grain growers with the freedom to choose how they market their barley. It is the Government's intention to make marketing choice a reality by August 1, 2007 - in time for the coming crop year." Canada is typically the fifth largest barley exporter in the world, with exports this year expected at 1.5 million tons. The majority of exports are typically malting barley, primarily to the United States and China, whereas barley feed exports are usually shipped to Saudi Arabia and Japan.

Domestic: March export bids for U.S. #2 yellow corn averaged $172, down $7 per ton. Since mid-February, daily export bids for Gulf shipment have dropped over $40 per ton. Large planting intentions, and impacts from other commodities markets have combined for a more bearish outlook. However, recent cold and wet weather in key growing areas and stronger soybean prices relative to corn have supported prices in recent days.

TRADE CHANGES IN 2006/2007

Selected Exporters

- China corn is slashed by 500,000 tons to 3.5 million, the lowest in 8 years. The United States and Argentina remain competitive to North Asia, and there are no indications that China will approve significant additional corn export quotas.
- Paraguay corn jumps by 600,000 tons to 1.1 million on the basis of updated trade data showing strong shipments to Brazil.
- Argentine barley is raised 100,000 tons to 400,000 on larger production and strong sales to Brazil.
- United States sorghum is cut by 200,000 tons to 3.8 million, the lowest in 35 years, based on the slow pace of sales to Mexico.
- EU rye is cut 100,000 tons to 250,000, the lowest in 25-years, on diminished intervention supplies and minimal free market export sales.

Selected Importers

- Egypt corn is cut by 500,000 tons to 4.3 million because of slack demand from the poultry industry.
- South Africa corn is up again this month, now by 200,000 tons (to over 1 million) because of deteriorating production prospects. These would be the highest imports in over a decade.
- Brazil barley is raised 100,000 tons to 250,000 on strong purchases from Argentina.
- Mexico sorghum is lowered by 200,000 tons to 2.1 million based on the slowest purchase pace in over 10 years because of a shift to corn.

OTHER NOTES

Stocks: Unless otherwise stated, stock data are based on an aggregate of differing local marketing years and should not be construed as representing world stock levels at a fixed point in time.

Consumption: World totals for consumption reflect total utilization, including food, seed, industrial, feed, and waste; as well as differences in marketing year imports and marketing year exports. Consumption statistics for regions and individual countries, however, reflect food, seed, industrial, feed, and waste only.

EU Consolidation: The trade figures for the EU-25 for the years 1999/00 through 2002/03 are inflated by the two-way trade between the two groups (EU-15 and acceding 10). Over the past 6 years, this “intra-trade” has averaged about 700,000 tons for wheat, 350,000 tons each for corn and barley, and 150,000 tons for rye. The trade figures also include intra-trade between members of the acceding 10. From 2003/04 onward, all intra-trade has been removed.

Statistics: (1) Wheat trade statistics include wheat, flour, and selected products on a grain equivalent basis. (2) Rice trade statistics include rough, brown, milled, and broken on a milled equivalent basis. (3) Coarse grains statistics include corn, barley, sorghum, oats, rye, millet, and mixed grains but exclude trade in barley malt, millet, and mixed grains.

Unaccounted: This term includes grain in transit, reporting discrepancies in some countries, and trade to countries outside the USDA database.
